

The Learning Support Department

Working with pupils with additional learning needs

Mrs J Buckley-Dibben

Specialist Teacher

Post Graduate Diploma in Specific Learning Difficulties (Level 7) with AMBDA

Small words often incorrectly read

Dyslexia is evident when accurate and fluent word reading and/or spelling develop very incompletely or with great difficulty. This focus on literacy learning primarily at the work level and implies that the problem is severe and persistent despite appropriate learning opportunities.

British Psychology Society

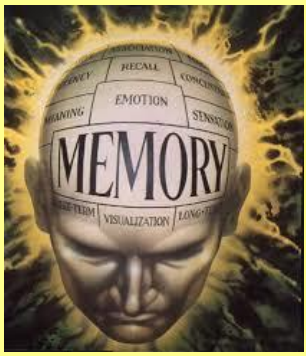

Dyslexia occurs across a range of intellectual abilities.

Dyslexia is a "processing difference"

(Reid G: 2009)

Square root 'rule'

- Nicolson Fawcett (2000)
- If it takes a pupil without dyslexia 5 repetitions to learn something, it might take a pupil with dyslexia 25 repetitions to learn the same information.

Visual Stress

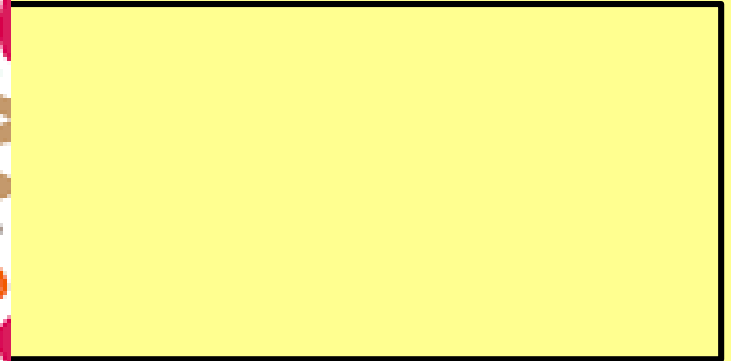

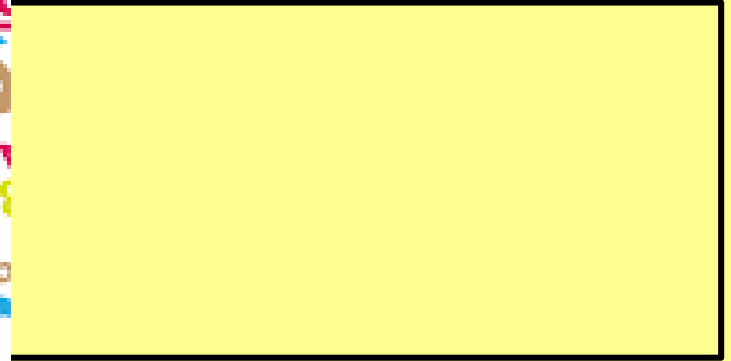

www.irlen.com

When a maths problem is not just a maths problem

?????? collects £1000
He gives $\frac{5}{4}$ of it to his friend
How much does he have left?

Alfie collects £1000
He gives $\frac{3}{5}$ of it to his friend
How much does he have left?

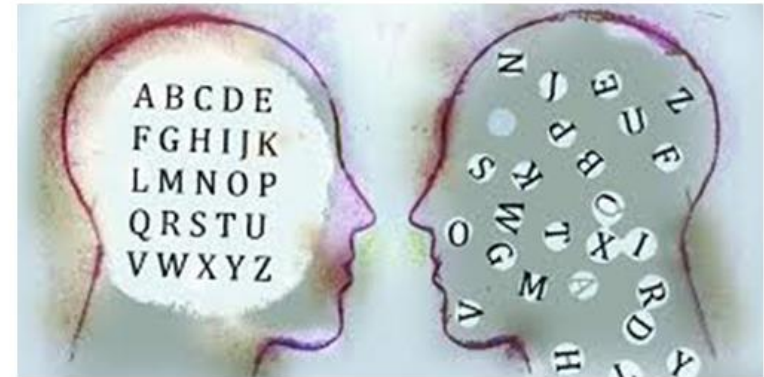

Ms S Crofts
SENDCo

s.crofts@hazelgrovehigh.co.uk

Mrs J Buckley-Dibben
Specialist Teacher

j.buckleydibben@hazelgrovehigh.co.uk

Guidance for parents and staff at Hazel Grove High School.

Produced using information from Stockport LSS, EPS and Stockport SEND strategic Lead document